PM seeks consensus on definition of terrorism

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 13 October

Terrorism anywhere in the world and any form is against humanity, and it was saddening that consensus has not been achieved on the definition of terrorism, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Friday, amid the ongoing Israel-Hamas war, and asserted that "this is time for peace and brotherhood" as a divided world cannot provide solutions to big global challenges.

Addressing the inaugural session of the ninth G20 Parliamentary Speakers' Summit (2023) here, Modi called for ending the crisis in global trade and moving forward with a human-centric approach. "Everyone is aware of what is happening in various parts of the world. The world is grappling with conflicts and confrontations, such a world full of conflicts and confrontations is not in anyone's interest. A divided world cannot provide solutions to the big challenges before humanity," the Prime Minister said.

"This is the time for peace, brotherhood, this is the time for moving forward together, this is the time for everyone's development and welfare. We have ended the crisis over global trust and move forward with a human-centric approach," he said.

While the Prime Minister did not mention any specific conflict or issue, his remarks come amid a raging war between Israel and Hamas which has already seen a large number of casualties. Modi also called for taking a tough approach in dealing with terrorism. "As you know India has been facing the issue of cross-border terrorism for decades. Terrorists have killed thousands of innocents in India. Near the new Parliament building, you will find the old Parliament building. About 20 years ago, terrorists had targeted the Parliament. You will be startled to know that Parliament was in session at that time," he said.

"Terrorists wanted to take hostage, kill MPs. India has dealt with numerous such terror incidents," he noted. Now the world is also realising how big a challenge terrorism is for the world, Modi said.

"Terrorism, wherever it may be, for whatever reason, in whatever form, is against humanity. In such a scenario, we will have to adopt a tough approach in dealing with terrorism," he said.

Modi said it was saddening that consensus has not been achieved on the definition of terrorism.

"Today also, in the UN, the international convention on combating terrorism is waiting for consensus," he said and

Indians evacuated from Israel under Operation Ajay at Indira Gandhi International Airport in New Delhi on Friday. After safely evacuating 212 Indians from Israel, the Indian Embassy in Tel Aviv is facilitating more flights, including one on Friday evening, amid the Israel-Hamas conflict added that "enemies of humanity" are taking advantage of this approach of the world.

"THIS IS THE TIME FOR PEACE, BROTHERHOOD. THIS IS THE TIME FOR MOVING FORWARD TOGETHER. THIS IS THE TIME FOR EVERYONE'S DEVELOPMENT AND WELFARE"

Prime Minister Modi's remarks come amid the escalating violence in the West Asia after multi-pronged attacks against Israel by Hamas militants from Gaza and the subsequent Israeli retaliation that has left around 2,600 people dead. Israel has launched a massive counter-offensive in Gaza to avenge the attacks by Hamas.

The sudden escalation in hostilities between Israel and Hamas has triggered global concerns. Leading powers like

Don't expect disruption in supply lines, says Puri

Amid the ongoing Israel-Hamas conflict, Union Minister for Petroleum and Natural Gas Hardeep Singh Puri on Friday said that there is no expectation of any disruption in supply lines for crude oil so far. Asked if the conflict can have an impact on oil supplies, Puri told reporters here, "So far, no expectation of supply lines being disrupted".

Germany, the US, France and the UK emphasised the importance of preventing the situation from further escalation.

In his address, Modi said Parliament and representatives across the globe will have to think about how they can work together in this fight against terrorism.

The Prime Minister also underlined that there can be no better medium than public participation to deal with the world's challenges.

"I have always believed that governments are formed by majority, but the country is run by consensus," he said.

Modi called for looking at the world with the sentiment of oneness, one family, one future.

In making decisions for the world, the more the participation, the bigger the impact it would make, Modi said, and added that it was with this spirit, that India proposed making the African Union a G20 member. "I am happy that all member states accepted it." The Prime Minister said the G20 presidency ensured festivities in India throughout the year and India landing on the moon added to the celebration. He also referred to the success of the Chandrayaan-3 mission.

Meja Urja bets on UP power demand, to build 5.6-Gw thermal capacity

Signals renewed interest in coal-based power units owing to high demand

SHREYAJI
New Delhi, 13 October

Meja Urja Nigam Ltd (MUNL), which is a 50:50 joint venture (JV) between India's largest power generator NTPC Ltd and Uttar Pradesh Rajya Vidyut Utpadan Nigam Ltd (UPRVNL), plans to build 5.6 gigawatt (Gw) of coal-based power-generating units in the coming years to meet the rising power demand. UP's plan to set up a new thermal unit in Meja, which comes after a hiatus of nearly a decade.

This also indicates the comeback of coal-based power units with states looking to set up mega plants in their backyard owing to high demand.

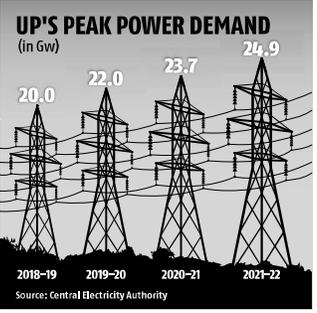

Post Covid, the power demand of India's largest state (Uttar Pradesh) has surged this year. It has surpassed the levels of typically higher-demand industrial states, such as Maharashtra, Gujarat and Tamil Nadu.

In August and September this year, when the thermal peak power demand touched a record high of 24 Gw, UP saw the highest demand of around 25-28 Gw.

MUNL, which currently operates a 1.32 Gw thermal power project in Meja district of UP, is looking to add three more units totalling 2.4 Gw. Of these, two existing units became operational in 2019 and 2021, respectively.

Moreover, the UP Cabinet recently approved the 1.6 Gw capacity Obra D power project, which would be constructed by MUNL. A similar capacity Anpara E is being built by MUNL.

Speaking with Business Standard, Sunil Kumar, chief executive officer (CEO) of MUNL, said the cumulative capacity of 5.6 Gw to be constructed by the company shows the confidence of the state government in MUNL's performance. It also indicates the growing need for affordable electricity.

He said that with this planned capacity MUNL will become the largest JV of NTPC with any state government. Kumar did not indicate a timeline for the commissioning as board approval on this is pending.

NTPC has 10 joint ventures with various state governments or state-owned utilities with a cumulative operational capacity of 10.5 Gw. There is an additional 9.3 Gw of capacity under consideration with these JVs, according to the annual report of NTPC. Among these JVs, NEEPCO, which NTPC acquired in 2020, is the largest with 2 Gw of operational capacity.

"In recent times, there has been a significant increase in power demand of the state. It is the largest state but the enhanced electricity connections and rise in commercial demand due to economic uptick has created the need to build more power plants in the state. A major part of this capacity addition is coming to us," Kumar said.

More in-house power projects ensure that the cost of electricity remains low. Kumar said MUNL has coal supply agreements with three subsidiaries of Coal India and it is supplying "affordable power to UP".

ment, which was restricted to state-owned utility BHEL, has seen the entry of several global players such as GE, Toshiba and Hitachi in recent years. The growing need for electricity and dependence on coal-based power generation has been the driving force.

Kumar said with more EPC players, the company is able to deploy latest technologies such as supercritical power units and flue gas desulphurisation (FGD), which ensure efficiency in operations and emission control.

"All new thermal units in the country are being built on super critical technology. As against sub-critical, where efficiency is around 35 per cent, in super critical, it is more than 40 per cent," he said.

Super-critical power units use less fuel and water to produce more electricity as compared to sub-critical units and also have lower emissions.

MUNL is a retrofit in older units and induced technology in upcoming units. FGD cleans up sulphur from the emissions coming out of the thermal power units.

MUNL, like most state-owned power units, follows a cost-plus model in their declaration where it passes through all the costs incurred on electricity generation.

This year, the Centre had mandated all thermal stations to import coal up to 6 per cent of their fuel requirements. Kumar said the imported coal procurement had a minimal impact on their tariff.

MUNL supplies bulk of its capacity generation to Uttar Pradesh and the rest to Uttarakhand, Punjab, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh.
